KAISER'S SON KILLS SELF

MAYOR MAGNET OF DISLOYALTY, LOWDEN CHARGE

Deals a Blow for Oglesby.

For the first time since they parted political company, Gov. Frank O. Lowden last night made the flat statement that the trouble between himself and Mayor Thompson was due to the mayor's opposition to the cause of America during the war.

"During the war, it was my duty, as governor, to put the entire strength of Illinois, so far as possible, back of the government in the prosecution of the war," says the governor in a signed statement issued from Springfield. "In doing this, as is well known, I came into conflict with the mayor of Chicago. One of the consequences was that all the elements of disloyalty and discontent became arrayed under his banner."

Talks for Oglesby.

The attack upon Mayor Thompson by the governor, which he had refused to make when his own fate was at stake, was directed in behalf of the candidacy for governor of Lieut. Gov. John G. Oglesby. It was part of a general statement in behalf of the lieutenant governor prepared by Gov. Lowden after conferences with a number of Republican leaders in the state.

In the statement the governor makes it plain that he believes that the principal issue in the Republican primary fight to be decided next September is one of patriotism.

Plays "Thompson Tammany."

He places this issue first in his appeal to the voters of the state to punish Thompson and his followers for their conduct during the war.

"As a second issue he raises that of 'Tammanyism.' He refers to the 'Tammany Hall' organization, built up, he says, around the disloyalty which rallied around the mayor. 'Tammany Hall of New York is not so powerful and not less scrupulous,' is his declaration.

Text of Statement.

The full text of the governor's statement follows:

"Ordinarily a state ticket is out of the question and not in accord with the spirit of our primary laws. But at this time an extraordinary situation confronts the state. The situation, if not met firmly and courageously, is a real menace to the state of Illinois. During the war it was my duty as governor, to put the entire strength of Illinois, so far as possible, back of the government in the prosecution of the war. Patriotism demanded this and the history and traditions of the great state reinforced the demand of patriotism. It was my constant endeavor to perform this duty. In doing this, as is well known, I came into conflict with the mayor of Chicago. One of the consequences was that all the elements of disloyalty and discontent became arrayed under his banner. Employing these elements as a basis, Thompson has developed a machine in Chicago to a point where it now holds the business, politics, and education of that great city by the throat. Tammany Hall of New York is not so powerful and not less scrupulous. Drunk with power, this new Tammany now seeks to extend its rule over the affairs of the entire state.

Must Defeat State.

"It has announced a slate of candidates. In order to defeat this slate effectively it becomes necessary, as it appears to all the contemporaries in the anti-Thompson sentiment, to center up a single list of candidates. With this in view conferences were held with the chief candidates for the various state offices opposing Thompsonism. These conferences were also attended by various other political leaders. As a result many personal animosities were unselfishly laid aside. A list of candidates headed by Lieut. Gov. Oglesby for governor is being submitted for the consideration of the Republican voters of the state. These men have been tried and have proven their ability and their integrity. If they are successful at the primaries and at the polls, Illinois will be insured a sane, honest, and economical administration of the affairs and the Thompson Tammany will be stopped at the Cook county line."

I. C. Trains Collide on Lake Front; 16 Injured

Sixteen persons were injured last night when two Illinois Central passenger trains met in collision in the tracks at the foot of East Washington street. An emergency train rushed the injured passengers to the Illinois Central hospital where it was said that some had suffered serious injuries.

JAMES PATTEN'S DAUGHTER SAVED FROM LAKE DEATH

Canoe Upset; Woman Aids in Rescue.

One mile from the Winnetka shore a sailing canoe capsized yesterday afternoon. In it were Laurence Wilder, multi-millionaire tanner and head of the Amalgamated Machine company of the Steam corporation; his wife, the Evanson millionaire; and Millar Brainard, vice president of the Central Trust company in charge of the credit department.

Fighting heroically for twenty minutes, the party managed to keep afloat until the arrival of their rescuers. The canoe filled with water and sank. Lieut. James Brees, U. S. N., who designed and engineered the NC-4 on the recent trans-Atlantic trip; Mrs. Brees, an athletic woman; and Jarold May, who pulled the stroke oar of the Cambridge crew during his college days, rowed to the rescue of their friends and brought them ashore. Hundreds of Winnetka residents cheered the rescue.

Caught in Sudden Squall.

Lieut. Brees and Mr. May, who are associated with Mr. Wilder in business, were guests at the Wilder estate yesterday. Some one suggested a canoe sail, and Mr. Wilder took out his wife and their guest, Mr. Brainard.

"A sudden squall came up when we were about a mile from shore," Mr. Wilder explained last night. "It capsized us, and we could not right the canoe. Mrs. Wilder was tossed out. Brainard and I swam for her, but she quickly reached the boat alone and clung on while we tried in vain to right it."

On the shore Mrs. Brees was the first to discover the accident.

Woman Hunts Boat.

"Look, Jim!" she cried. "They're drowning! A boat! Get a boat!" She dashed along the shore searching for a boat, while one of the men signaled that aid was coming.

"Here's an old tub," Mrs. Brees exclaimed. "But it will be better than nothing." And the two men and the woman launched the rowing.

"It seemed years until they arrived," Mrs. Wilder said last night. "But if it had not been for them we surely would have perished miserably. The water was dreadfully cold and we were fatigued from swimming. We owe a debt of gratitude to Jim and his wife and Jerry May that never can be repaid."

Wears Laurels Modestly.

Mrs. Brees wears her laurels modestly, though, and last night when THE TRIBUNE reporter called she disclaimed any credit for the heroic deed.

"Two young men, seated on a huge divan, were several big brass medals. 'Gentlemen, meet this Tribune man,' she said. 'These are the real heroes, and they have been decorated for their bravery. Heroes, bow!'"

And the two men, her husband and Mr. May, bowed gracefully, and Mrs. Wilder bowed another cup of tea.

"It is hinted in the Wilder home that the name of Mrs. James Brees will be filed with an application for a Carnegie medal."

SAY WRANGEL HAS WIPED OUT 18 RED REGIMENTS

COPENHAGEN, July 18.—[United News.]—Gen. Wrangel has succeeded in destroying eighteen Soviet cavalry regiments and taking 20,000 prisoners, according to reports reaching this city from Russia.

It was reported that this success was due to the movement of a force of 100,000 Cossacks, said to have broken through the Soviet front and effected a junction with Wrangel.

Novorossiysk, Kerkennodar, and Taganrog have been evacuated by the Red troops.

IF YOU had to die tonight with the man you hate most, could you become reconciled with him before death?

"SOUL BRIDE" SHOOTS MAN; KILLS SELF

Wife Forgives Her Dying Husband.

Miss Pauline Meglitch, a comely Ravenswood young woman, wound up a clandestine love affair with a married man yesterday by reneading the tragedy of Ruth Randall. She shot Julius Jonas, a prosperous commercial salesman, and then killed herself.

The motive—identical with that which spurred Ruth Randall to kill Clifford Blyer—was contained in a sentence from a letter which she addressed "To the Public." It was her justification—her own law.

"I tried to get Julie to kiss me to-night, but he refused. He said he loved his wife and family more than he did me, and that he was through with me. He said he was going back to his wife and family, and he seemed to mean what he said."

Man Dying; Woman Dead.

Jonas was shot—and Miss Meglitch committed suicide—in a bedroom of the Meglitch home at 4827 North Lawrence avenue. Later, in the Montrose hospital, where it was said that Jonas had but slight chance for recovery, the victim of the woman's pistol told the police he had spent the night in the guest room of the Meglitch home and was asleep when Pauline entered and fired without warning.

Wife Forgives Him.

A few hours later his wife, Mrs. Sarah Jonas, of 1453 Addison street, was at his side.

The bullet, which severed his optic nerve, leaving him totally blind, had just been probed and he was being carried upstairs when he recognized her voice.

"Do you forgive me?" he asked weakly.

"Yes, Julie," came the response, and that was all.

Files Suit for Divorce.

Only last March Mrs. Jonas, a sister of Leo Feist, music publisher, had filed suit for separate maintenance against her husband. Pauline was named.

A conference, which was held in the office of Lester Bauer, attorney for Mrs. Jonas, resulted in the signing of a divorce decree. She was very sick. Would he come to her? Jonas did, and the early morning tragedy was the result.

Shots Waken Sister.

It was 6:15 o'clock when Mrs. Helen Sanders, a sister of the dead girl, then she heard Jonas' voice.

"O, Helen, help!" he was calling weakly.

Jumping from her couch in the parlor, she hurried through the dining room to a rear sleeping room. There, on the bed, a wound in his temple, she saw Jonas. Lying on the floor in front of him was his sister. One hand clutched the revolver—a small .38 caliber Colt automatic.

Mother and Sister Call Police.

"What happened?" asked Helen, dully.

"Pauline," came the response from the bed. A moment later, when the sister returned with her mother, Mrs. Meglitch, Jonas asked for water. She gave him the water. Then she called the police.

In they trooped, Capt. Mullin and Lieut. Van Natta of the Irving Park station, followed by Detective Sergeant Scott, Driver, and Steffen. They lifted the woman from the floor and took her away to Purcell's undertaking establishment. Jonas was carried on a stretcher to the ambulance.

"Mother, forgive me," he murmured to Mrs. Meglitch. "Please forgive me for what I have done to Pauline. I'm so sorry."

How Romance Began.

His affair with her daughter extended back through several years of waiting and wanting love. It was a decade ago when he was a court salesman and she a bookkeeper for the Wolff Clothing company in St. Louis, that they met.

One evening, according to Mrs. Sanders, Pauline came home with Jonas' court model. Several days later the visit was repeated, and this time the salesman came, too. He was not seen then for several years, when, returning

THE RESTLESS AGE

Miss Sadie Johnson, at her switchboard in the Alert garage, was enjoying the luxury of a dull morning. Few calls were coming in and her mind was free to ramble off in interesting day-dreams. At the moment she was reflecting upon the scarcity of heroes in real life, whereas the movies were full of them. Douglas Fairbanks, appearing on the street, would attract a bigger crowd than Gen. Pershing, and only the evening before she and Mr. Wickham had seen Tom Mix perform numberless heroic stunts which made the young men of real life seem colorless in comparison.

The switchboard signaled a call. Crisp, cutting words came crackling into her ear:

"This is Miss Morland. Will you please ask if the repairs on my car will ever be done? It was to have been at my door at 10 sharp. It is now half past. Your service is becoming more wretched every day."

Miss Johnson answered with unfeigned politeness. Her voice was electric sunshine. "Just a moment, please."

After connecting with the repair department she reported:

"Your car will be right over, Miss Morland. We're very sorry it has been delayed." Miss Morland rang off with a bang.

"Nice girl, that!" reflected Sadie. "Of all people she should be the happiest. She has everything in the world—oodles of money, big social position, and advertised as a great beauty. But oh, what a disposition! And how the boys have hate her! They won't deliver her car if they can help it."

A moment later the beautiful roadster with its distinctive coloring and monograms halted in the driveway below her. The foreman spoke earnestly to the driver:

"Now, for the love of Pete, don't get into a row with her. Their business is worth too much. Tell her we've hurried as fast as possible."

"I'll try not to get into a fight with her," answered the driver, pleasantly. Miss Johnson was visibly interested upon recognizing Tom Wickham's voice.

"So they've wished the job on him," she thought, and then called out through the window:

"Give my love to Lucille."

"Lucille who?" asked Tom.

"Lucille Morland—that's the dear girl's name."

The car shot out, leaving Sadie busy with a new line of reflections.

As Tom drew up before an imposing mansion on the boulevard the door opened and a smartly dressed girl hurried out. She was undeniably pretty.

LETTER TELLS PHILOSOPHY OF
MISS MEGLITSCHPlaced Her Love for Jonas
Above All Else.

Pauline Meglitsch left several letters and statements to justify the final act of her life. One of these was addressed "To the Public." Another was addressed to her mother. This one is to be opened by Coroner Hoffman.

But another letter, addressed to "My Beloved Julius," contains what the police believe to be the philosophy of her attachment for Jonas.

Miss Meglitsch was past 50. Jonas was nearing 50. She wrote like a sub-adolescent pouring out her sentimentalism to a youth of 20.

The letter to "Julius."

Here is her letter:

"My Dearest Beloved Julius: Friday. To be too generous is as much a crime as to be too little so. This thought occurred to me today as I read Mrs. J's letter, and with a flood of joy I changed my whole plan which I formulated in my anguish and conveyed to you.

"Why should I lay down my beautiful life in this beautiful world when I have the most wonderful of men to love? I could find no answer, so I expected myself at once to write my thoughts to him who rules over me and who I see by the contents of the letter needs me to come to his rescue. Nothing can be gained by living, as you seemed to know what she said, but I will keep it and let you see it again. It is the stereotyped kind, of course. I am sorry for her and shall be all my power to make things as pleasant for her as I can, and I think I am not short of ideas for good.

"No Other Way."

"The way as well as herself, as there is no other way now."

"The more deeply we love the more we come to our command—so I have found it."

"The plea she makes is too late—she should have seen to her laurels before any time when stock was cheap—just in the asking she could have had you, where there is no soil for the flower, it will not grow. If she has loved something by my example, I shall be glad, and perhaps she can profit by it through life."

"I know you love me, even if you tell me you do not combat whatever I have in view."

"She has not made your love for me, and did not miss it until you requested a divorce, when she wrote me. She let you starve and suffer, because she does not need the love and she who does not know what she is doing, she is simply being dead."

"Nothing Will Stop Me."

"The fight I will make for you regardless of what she says or does, and I will want to settle things peacefully. I will report to other methods if necessary."

"I love you so that nothing will stop me."

"Don't you worry, my treasure, and let your loved one guide you and you will gain much more than you lose and be able to lead a clean life, so there will be no phobias or arrests. I know we would be caught some time and am surprised it was not sooner."

"I have no more fears of exposures now, and have full strength to go through with my plans without any delay, but I must have assurances at once from you and also cooperation for you from Mrs. J. for if she tries to prevent my carrying out my requests I shall do what I have in mind, and her first real worry in life will begin. I do not, from the bottom of my heart, wish to cause her any one else concerned the slightest discomfort, and shall not do so, providing she does not try to prevent what is inevitable."

"Lungs for His Voice."

"I feel as though I have been ill with a malignant disease for a month and it will take me long to recuperate from what I have gone through this week, but it worries me not, for just the sound of your voice is the best medicine in the world, and thought of the joy of living for the possessor of that voice is more than enough."

"Treasure mine, I am wondering how you are and what you are writing me. My beloved, I surely do love you beyond all expression, but I can give it to you only otherwise when the time comes. You are everything to me and every barrier that keeps you from me must go down, for I want to lead a clean life and be able to look myself and the world in the face."

"Dear heart, have no fears any more, but keep to the straight and narrow, and all will end well."

"I have certainly gone up and down the scale of suffering and I am through with it now for I see clearly the silly folly of it all—this hypocrisy is unbearable."

"You will have to take an hour off to read this, but it is worth it."

"Many hugs and kisses and my deep devotion for you."

"Your own,"

"PAULINE."

Death Ends Their Clandestine Romance

ing to St. Louis, he came to the Meglitsch home to become a roomer. The Meglitsch family liked him. He used to tell them about his wife and family, and show them presents which he had bought to send to them. Again he dropped out of their lives, this time for two years.

Makes Love to Pauline.

Once, more established in the household as a roomer, he began making frequent love to Pauline. She reciprocated his regard. He told the family of his passion for the young lady. He told them he would get a divorce from his wife and marry Pauline.

Then Mrs. Meglitsch remonstrated. She objected to having her daughter go with a married man. She ousted him from the house, but Pauline and Jonas held clandestine meetings elsewhere.

"A woman's love is like that of a child until she is 30. Then it is dangerous," observed the mother yesterday. "My daughter was a good girl and never had a sweetheart until she met Jonas. Then her entire soul went out to him. She loved him to distraction."

Jonas Furnishes Apartment.

"He ruined my daughter, and I appealed to him to leave her and go back to his family, but Pauline told me she wanted him more than anything else. I could do nothing."

And so, last October the family moved to Chicago and took the apartment on North Lawndale avenue. Jonas, who was making about $20,000 a year, furnished the flat. Then for weeks at a time, apart from the season when he should have been on the road, he was not seen in his Addison street home. His wife investigated. She discovered the other woman.

The filing of a bill for separate maintenance followed the intelligence. In it she specified numerous parties, as well as jaunts to Atlantic City and other places.

"His Spiritual Bride."

A conference was held in Attorney Bauer's office in the Woods theater building. Pauline, dressed, it is said, in a handsome seal skin coat which Jonas had bought her, was on hand to fight for possession of the man.

"I have to feed his spirit," she said. "He is my soul mate. Nature decreed that we should be together, and I am his spiritual bride."

She said other things. She characterized his marriage to Mrs. Jonas as "just a formal arrangement to bring forth children." She claimed the latter had failed to satisfy his love. She asserted there was nothing to the ordinary form of marriage.

Pauline an "Intellectual."

Pauline was an "intellectual." Such books as "Savage Survivals," "Evolution of Man," "Social Sanity," and "Man and Superman" were on her reading list. She attended ethical lectures.

"Religion is the opium of the people," she observed in one of her jotted notes. Another time she wrote of Jonas as belonging to the "chaotic western culture."

In his personal affairs she insisted on keeping a guiding hand. Sometimes, according to Attorney Bauer, she would dictate Jonas' letters to his wife, telling her how inevitable was his union with Pauline. She would even insist upon being present when he met his daughter, Harriet, and the latter was told by her what sort of dresses she should wear. Finally Pauline demanded that Harriet's allowance be cut off.

Lawyer Predicted Tragedy.

When the reconciliation between Jonas and his wife had been finally effected, Attorney Bauer predicted the tragedy which took place yesterday. Soon after that Jonas phoned his own lawyer.

"She threatens to kill herself unless I go to see her," he said. But he did not go back.

Meanwhile Pauline grew impatient for her soul mate. Only last Friday she was seen by a Miss Helen Secowe, 434 Addison street, pacing back and forth near his house. Finally, she says, Jonas rushed out, bareheaded, and joined her in a side street.

Makes Him Miss Train.

The next day, Saturday, he prepared for a business trip to Kansas City. "He left a little early to make a trip to Pauline's house to see her before he caught his train," Attorney Bauer said. "His ticket was purchased and his baggage checked. He was just about to leave when he was stopped by his wife and complaining she was sick. Pauline prevented him from leaving her house until it was too late for his train. He consented to stay all night, sleeping in a separate bedroom in the rear."

As he was retiring Pauline came to Jonas and asked him to go to her room. He refused, saying he would be faithful to his wife.

Death Ends Soul Romance.

"Whom do you love?" she asked him.

"I love my wife," he replied. "I don't want my wife to know I am here. I'm going to Kansas City in the morning."

She left his room. He went to sleep. Night changed to dawn. Pauline arose and entered his bedroom from her own. She fired two shots.

Their "soul romance" was at an end forever.

Wife at Jonas' Bedside.

Throughout yesterday and last night Mrs. Jonas kept vigil over her husband at the Montrose hospital. He was unconscious and physicians were uncertain whether he would live until morning.

"Of course we will stand by my husband," the wife said. "He has been good to us. I really don't understand why he should have gotten into this scrape with that woman."

He ruined my daughter, and I appealed to him to leave her and go back to his family, but Pauline told me she wanted him more than anything else. I could do nothing."

Bustles Lead to Arrest of 3 Girl "Rum Ranners"

Burlington, Vt., July 18.—(Special.)

The ruse of three young Canadian girls to smuggle liquor into this country might have been successful but for the fact that the federal agent, who encountered them on the train here, was not so green as not to know that bustles went out of style some years ago.

The girls had each several bottles of perfectly good liquor tucked away and they told the agent they were to deliver it to a man who was to meet them at the Manchester, N. H., station.

The girls are from Montreal. They were released on bail on the charge of smuggling liquor across the border.

FOREIGN NEWS
IN BRIEF

PARIS.—Serbians issue ultimatum to Italians to retire. Later attack Italian troops. Rome asks Belgrade for explanation. Conciliation governs Glott in foreign policy because of rising cry of Italian radicals for peace and better life at home.

SHANGHAI.—Peking has been shut off from the world by the capture of Tangshan by Anfu forces. The imperial family has asked protection of the foreign legation. Mutiny in the army is spreading.

PARIS.—Polish front gradually thickening as they retire to shorter line, and the Reds have harder going. Reds still a long way from Warsaw and Polish morale is not poor.

PARIS.—Secret system of death penalties still kept terror rule over soviet Russia. Although abolished in civil prisons the death commission finds a way around. Restrictions do not stop appetite for blood.

BELFAST.—Commissioner of Irish constabulary, who won Irish hatred by his talk, shot while with friends at club.

BERLIN.—Prince Joachim of Hohenzollern, youngest son of former kaiser, suicide.

MISS MEGLITSCH'S LETTER, TELLING
TRAGEDY'S CAUSE

Pauline Meglitsch's letter was scrawled, some of it unintelligibly, on six pages of paper. It reads:

"To the public: I know that everybody will condemn me for what I am about to do. The mental strain is so great that it is driving me mad, but I cannot stand the strain any longer. I know that tonight is the last night because mother has refused to allow Mr. Jonas to call here any more. We went out tonight and sat by the lake. I sat there and thinking it was so calm and quiet. Then we had two of the most wonderful dances and Mr. Jonas seemed so happy."

"Mrs. Jonas is always hounding him, although he has always provided for her and the children very liberally. Mrs. Jonas would not consent to a divorce, but Mr. Jonas said we should continue to keep company, as his wife might die and he would marry me the next day. It is not an honorable way and cannot go on any longer. I loved him so and he loved me. I have gone out with other men, and tried to break up with him, but he only got peevish and tells me I should not do so, and we would go together again."

"Recently when he went home to Mrs. Jonas, the oldest son tore his silk shirt off his back. Mr. Jonas was a wonderful man to me. During the last year he has given me about $2,000 worth of presents. I know that I had no right to accept them, and after the last one I told him I would not accept any more."

After writing of her love for her mother and sister she wrote "Goodbye."

RESTORER OF LOST YOUTH IS IN NEW YORK

New York, July 18.—(Special.)—Dr. Serge Voronoff of Paris, discoverer of the process of rejuvenation by the transfer of monkey glands, is in New York.

Dr. Voronoff, who is director of the experimental laboratory of the College of France, arrived on board the steamship France of the French line. He will be in America one month and may hold a clinic to demonstrate his operation. He came here to accompany his wife back to France. Mme. Voronoff, who has been stopping with friends at 500 Fifth avenue, is in ill health.

THREE HOLDUPS.

Four men held up the saloon of Emil Pels at 3038 West Chicago avenue and stole $150 from the cash register. E. J. Roberts, 4734 Flournoy street, reported two men took $50 from him. Roberts stopped R. Thompson, 2515 Sunnyside avenue, but got only 75 cents.

SMYTH OF 'SHOOT
MORE' COMMAND
KILLED BY IRISHWe Follow Your Advice,
Slayers Tell Him.

CORK, July 18.—Col. Smyth, divisional commissioner of the Royal Irish constabulary, was shot dead last night. He was seated in the smoking room of the County club with his colleagues, County Inspector Craig, when fifteen masked men entered the hall and surrounded the hall porter. Revolvers were pointed at him and he was commanded to make no noise. Five of the party entered the smoking room. The two leaders advanced to Smyth, saying: "You preach shoot at sight. You are in sight now, so prepare."

Two revolver shots were fired at him. He jumped to his feet and staggered to the door. Four more shots struck him. He fell dead.

Slayers Escape in Crowd.

Craig was wounded slightly in the leg. The assailants immediately left the club and, mingling with the crowd leaving a picture show on the opposite side of the street, easily got away.

Smyth won the Victoria cross and lost his arm in the world war. Smyth's name figured prominently in the house of commons during the last week in connection with a speech he made at Listowel, County Kerry, June 19, in which it was declared he ordered his men not to be afraid to shoot with effect.

Disorders in Cork.

There was much disorder in Cork tonight. Demobilized soldiers in force attacked soldiers in uniform in consequence of the death of a comrade named Bourke, who was stabbed this morning.

Sinn Féin volunteers interfered and saved some soldiers who had become detached from their colleagues to one soldier is said to have been shot. A large force of military in an armored car fired on the crowds. Six persons were severely wounded and three soldiers were killed.

SPEECH CAUSED MUTINY

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

[By Special Cable.]

LONDON, July 18.—Commissioner Smyth of the Royal Irish constabulary, who was killed at Cork last night, recently was called to London by Sir Hamar Greenwood to explain the extraordinary speech he is alleged to have made to the police at Listowel in County Kerry. Mr. Smyth is alleged to have told the police to shoot freely and "The more you shoot the better I will like you."

As a result of this harangue the police mutinied, the men refusing to carry out the orders and resigned, reporting the whole episode to the Sinn Féin.

REDS HURL ARMY ON THICKENING POLISH FRONT

Still Far from Heart of the New Republic.

BY COL. HENRY J. REILLY.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

[By Special Cable.]

PARIS, July 18.—The Polish of ensive ending in Kiev gave a more advantageous position for facing the coming bolshevik offensive than the one held against the March bolshevik attacks. Remaining in original positions permitting a continuance of bolshevik concentration meant facing an attack of the same numbers as those now operating plus those destroyed and demoralized during the successful Polish offensive. Also the bolshevik were losing a considerable amount of valuable material which the Poles captured.

The advance was additionally successful because it gave the army and people a better morale to encounter

further resistance.

Result a Thin Line.

An insufficient number of troops for such a front is held to be the primary weakness of the most advanced position. One division frequently occupied thirty miles. Also they were short of munitions. Both weaknesses held for the old line plus a lack of considerable river frontage protecting the new.

The Polish offensive resulted in keeping the bolshevik much farther from Warsaw today than would have been the case if it had not been made.

The good morale of the Siberians and Cossacks, fresh from defeating Kolchak and Denikin, replaced the troops which the Poles had beat. They were reasonably supplied with tanks, armored cars, and other equipment, largely English material captured from Kolchak and Denikin.

Use of Cavalry.

The greatest advantage lies in possession of large bodies of cavalry which several times outnumbered the Polish cavalry. Similar to the Polish use of cavalry in their advance, the bolshevik cavalry breaks through at intervals, its weight of numbers overcoming small detachments, thus outflanking and threatening the rear of large bodies of infantry and artillery. They pay no attention to roads, marching with their trains in the straight line across the country.

The Polish-American aviators frequently bomb, but are unable to stop the bolshevik, who vigorously are using large cavalry forces, primarily on the southeastern part of the line in the open country between the Dnieper and Dniestec and compelling retreats of the Polish line, starting with the right wing.

While the morale of the retreating

Polish troops is not at the high point reached during their advance, yet it is far above par. Contrary reports, originated in bolshevik sources, have reached all countries. The bolshevik morale is much less high than reported in most news items. They are having a fair number of desertions.

Reds Still Far from Warsaw.

The bolshevik have advanced during their month's offensive seventy-five to 125 miles. They still are more than 250 miles from Warsaw on the north and 185 miles on the south. In the north they are approximately 125 miles and on the south eighty miles from the

SECRET DEATH TERROR REIGNS YET IN RUSSIA

Rules Fail to Stop Appetite.

BY JOHN CLAYTON.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

[By Special Cable.]

PARIS, July 18.—Comparative figures on terror and torture are a poor measure for civilization, but they are the first excuse and the last resort of both Whites and Reds in discussing the excesses to which both Russian parties have gone in their hatred, fear, and revenge of one another. There is no doubt in the minds of any one who has studied the situation that not only the bolshevik but the Denikin, Kolchak, and Tufenitch forces practiced barbarities from which the western mind turns in revolt.

It is the Vaycheka, or All Russian extraordinary commission, however, which has reduced to a science the organized terror. This organization, from which even members of the Communist party turn in revolt and discuss with loathing, is the real ruling force in Russia.

Cheka Is All Powerful.

I cannot believe that all their practices are condoned by the idealists in the Communist party. These men, who thoroughly believe in a brotherhood of man, have loomed on Russia a force which they have not the power to control. They have put into the hands of those others in the party who are inspired mostly by hatred a means of venting their revenge on the bourgeoisie which has gone far beyond their control and which still pursues its way of persecution.

No one can go back of the Cheka.

No commissary is powerful enough to control it. It needs no warrants for arrest. The finger of suspicion pointed toward a man in the streets is sufficient to bring about his arrest. Usually he knows nothing of the charges made against him, and it may be months before he is brought to trial.

The death penalty still exists in the army and on the railways, though it has been abolished in the civil prisons.

And with its existence the Cheka finds means for disposing of men and women

it considers dangerous to the state.

They are simply turned over to the army or the railways.

The fanatical leaders of the revolution condone these methods by declaring they are necessary to "save the revolution." Zorin, the young chief of the Petrograd district, said in discussing the death penalty, "If I thought my own brother was working to defeat our cause and undermine the rights of the working classes I would sign the order for his death, or, if necessary, shoot him with my own hand."

7,000 in Moscow Prisons.

In the prisons of Moscow today are 7,000 men and women. This figure was given me by Baitulin, chief of the public kitchens department in Moscow in presenting statistics of the numbers of persons fed daily by the government.

I included this in a story about food rationing which was sent from Moscow, but it was carefully deleted.

The hatred of the Cheka is confined to no one class, for all have suffered.

But it is this organization of terrorist police which keeps Moscow and Petrograd in subjection. While I was standing opposite the Metropol hotel in Moscow two men were arrested on the street. I asked my interpreter

why. "Opposition to the government,"

he said, and explained that they were talking of the evils of the soviet organization when a member of the Cheka overheard them. Those two men probably will wait three or four months for trial and their families be closely watched as counter-revolutionary suspects.

SLATE MAKING CUTS FIELD IN ASSEMBLY RACE

Order of Filing Is Told by Emmerson.

Springfield, Ill., July 18.—[Special.]—Announcement was made tonight by the secretary of state's office of the order in which the names of candidates for the state senate and members of the lower house of the general assembly will appear upon the ballot.

The first batch of petitions of candidates for the legislature was received by the secretary of state yesterday, but it was not until today that the listing of the candidates was completed. This was in spite of the fact that the task was a far lighter one than usual, there being a marked scarcity of candidates. This was especially true of Democratic candidates.

State Making Cause. This scarcity of candidates was explained not by any lack of interest in politics, but by the fact that office seekers are becoming more convinced that their chances of nomination are almost hopeless without organization backing. In most districts the organization candidates were selected in advance of the filing, and in many of them they were the only ones to file. There is still plenty of time left for additional candidates to get in their petitions.

The filing shows that a majority of the members of the last legislature are candidates for reelection.

The old minority plan of representation will be adhered to in the coming election, each of the fifty-one districts in the state electing three representatives to the lower house. Senators are elected only in the even numbered districts, except in the fifth district, where there is a vacancy caused by the election of Senator Morton D. Hull as a member of the constitutional convention.

GOMPERS CALLS STATE A. F. L.'S INTO CAMPAIGN

Washington, D. C., July 18.—[Special.]—Calling upon union men throughout the country to defeat the congressmen marked for slaughter by the American Federation of Labor, its executive committee, headed by Samuel Gompers, has asked state organizations to hold meetings simultaneously on Aug. 7 to map out plans of campaign.

In a letter sent to the state federations of labor, signed by Mr. Gompers, Frank Morrison, and James O'Connell, it is urged that this campaign be made "the greatest victory for labor and justice in the political history of our nation."

Another letter sent to secretaries of all labor organizations suggests the holding of conferences in each congressional district. It is urged that in this way conflicts in supporting or opposing candidates for congress may be avoided.

Woman's Party Sees Tennessee as 36th State
Washington, D. C., July 18.—[Special.]—Assurances of support by Gov. Cox of the ratification campaign in Tennessee and results of the poll now being taken of the legislature has increased the confidence of suffragists that the thirty-sixth state will be won within the next few weeks.

The poll of the legislature now being taken by the national woman's party shows up to date the following situation:

Senate—Membership, 33; necessary majority, 17; pledged, 11; noncommittal, 3; opposed, 1; leaving six to get and 18 still unheard from.

House—Membership, 99; necessary majority, 50; pledged, 34; noncommittal, 3; opposed, 3; leaving 16 to get and 59 still unheard from.

Two "BILLIES," BRYAN & SUNDAY, MAY BE TICKET
Lincoln, Neb., July 18.—Delegates to the prohibition national convention, which begins here Wednesday next, preferred to await the arrival of leaders before indulging in forecasts. The sentiment is for a national ticket, but none of those mentioned as a possible head of the ticket appears to have a dominating lead.

W. G. Calderwood of Minnesota, vice chairman of the national committee, favors a ticket headed by William J. Bryan, with William A. Sunday for running mate.

Mr. Calderwood, however, takes exceptions to a statement credited to Mr. Bryan that enforcement of a prohibition law rests more with congress than with the president.

Two Zeppelin Cruisers on the Way to America
BERLIN, July 18.—The second of two Zeppelin cruisers, which it is reported are to be sent to America, left Friedrichshafen on Friday, says a message to the Tages Zeitung from Constance. According to the same source, it will be the real force of the world's peace treaty, as the American interests as the Friedrichshafen yards, by the peace treaty, are debarred from building further airships.

What Did You Tell Wilson? HARDING TO COX
Demands Rival State His Promises on League.

Marion, O., July 18.—[Special.]—Senator Warren Harding today called on Gov. James M. Cox to give the American people specific information as to which one of the Wilson administration's commitments in foreign affairs the Democratic nominee has given his support. He wants to know whether the Democratic nominee subscribes to Article 10 and to other features of the league of nations and foreign program to which the administration is committed.

Senator Harding expressed himself on the visit of Gov. Cox to the White House without waiting for any official pronouncement. He proceeded on the assumption that the president's answer to the governor would be "in complete accord." If they are in accord, Senator Harding wants Gov. Cox to tell the American people precisely and specifically what commitments the governor has tied himself up to.

But One Way to "Agree" with Wilson. Senator Harding in a statement said: "The president and the Democratic nominee for his successor are in conference today, and at the conclusion it will inevitably be announced that they found themselves in complete accord, that harmony reigns, and unity is established in the Democratic party. The significance of that announcement will not be missed. There is just one way that one can establish accord between himself and the president, that is by yielding his own opinion at every point to that of the president."

"When the nominee establishes accord with the president, it means that the latter is in charge of the campaign and will be the real force of the next administration, if it is Democratic."

"Therefore, in connection with the announcement of harmony between the president and the Democratic nominee, it will be pertinent to inquire the basis of the agreement. The country is very anxious to know if an unqualified acceptance of the league of nations program is agreed upon."

What Have You Promised? "Second, has Cox pledged himself to ratification of the treaty and league without essential modifications?" "Third, has article 10 been accepted? It has been repeatedly declared that article 10 is the heart of the treaty and that to cut it out would break the heart of the world? Is the Democratic ticket still for article 10?" "Fourth, the president naturally has stipulated that Gov. Cox must assume, underwrite, and liquidate all the international commitments in which the present administration has involved itself and the nation. The involves the need of a great army and navy, for the administration demanded that we build by 1925 a navy equal to Britain's. It also demanded creation of a regular army twice as large as we ever had in peace.

If real economy is to be the goal, why not judge for yourself of the values in store where quality is unquestioned?

"What did the president want of these vast armaments unless to fight with them? Gov. Cox will know, now, for he is in complete accord with the president."

"It is earnestly to be hoped that Gov. Cox will frankly and promptly answer these questions, because the Republican party wants the country to know it rejects all these ill-considered commitments, and pledges its administration against them."

Invalid Soldier Killed in a Row Over a Woman
George A. Dordan, an invalid overseas veteran, was killed early this morning in a south side cafe in a quarrel over a woman. Dan Mahoney, 5814 South Morgan street, admits he knocked Dordan down. He said Dordan spoke insultingly to his sweetheart, Margaret Andrews, who was with Mahoney in Prostek's cabaret, 3248 Cottage Grove avenue, where the row took place. It is believed Dordan struck his head against a door jamb and fractured his skull.

Dordan was shown by papers found in his pockets to have been a resident of 1219 Johnson street, Streator, Ill.

PEKING CUT OFF FROM WORLD BY ANFU VICTORY

Martial Law Proclaimed;
Army Revolt Spreads.

SHANGHAI, July 18.—[By the Associated Press.]—The first major battle between the Anfu forces of Gen. Tuan Chi Jui and Chihli troops under Gen. Wu Pei Fu occurred on July 15 north of Tientsin and ended in victory for the Anfu forces, who led personally by Gen. Hsu Shu Chang, captured Yangtsun, the largest center on the Peking-Tientsin railway line. This cut off communication with Peking.

A consular mission, consisting of British, French, Japanese, and American, has gone to Yangtsun to invoke the treaty protocol limiting the fighting areas.

Fighting is also reported in the Lofa district, where Chihli troops are said to be fleeing southward in disorder. It is understood the diplomatic corps is taking measures to protect them.

Martial law has been proclaimed in Peking.

Wu Pei Fu Captures Brigade.
PEKING, July 18.—[By the Associated Press.]—A brigade of frontier troops has been surrounded and captured by the forces of Gen. Wu Pei Fu, according to a report received here from Pootungfu. The report adds that two regiments have deserted to the colors of Wu Pei Fu.

Frontier defense troops under Gen. Tuan Chi Jui attacked near Chochow, thirty miles south of Peking, early this morning and drove back the Wu Pei Fu forces by superior artillery fire.

Nan Yuan Troops Looting.
It is reported that the troops in the suburb of Nan Yuan are out of hand and looting.

The imperial family has appealed to the foreign legations for protection, fearing that they will be victims of propaganda, alleging that Gen. Wu Pei Fu is carrying on a movement for the restoration of the monarchy.

There is much apprehension in the capital in view of the continued arrival of defeated troops and an alleged plan to wreak vengeance on the city.

ENGLAND HONORS MAYFLOWER DAY NEXT SATURDAY

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[By Special Cable.]

LONDON, July 18.—The first of the centenary Mayflower celebrations will be held next Saturday in Southampton on the three hundredth anniversary of the sailing of the Mayflower from that port.

An historical pageant will be performed in the presence of the American ambassador and many other distinguished persons on the western esplanade, close by the spot from which the Pilgrims embarked. Following this will be a carnival and sports.

On the same date there will be a series of meetings in various towns of Essex, from which county many Pilgrims came. The principal Essex celebrations will be at Romford, Chelmsford, Southend, and Billerica.

On July 29 Ambassador Davis will unveil a memorial in the Congregational church at Billerica to the four Pilgrims from that town. Later there will be celebrations at Plymouth and other points associated with Pilgrims.

WAY RIDER HANGS TO STRAP WHILE FREE GRABS SEAT

Cash Car Fares Bear Burden of Gratis Travel.

BY OSCAR E. HEWITT.
A few nights before the strike on the surface lines two policemen in uniform and a slender young woman mounted a south bound car. The cops were ahead. They got seats. The woman didn't.

The woman had paid her fare. The policemen were not required to. She hung to a strap, while the other two, comfortably seated, busied themselves with newspapers ten feet away.

The woman had not only paid the full and complete cost of her ride, but to her fare she had contributed much more. She had contributed her share to the expense of carrying the cops. She had given her part to the carrying of the right of way between the tracks, her part to its maintenance, removing the ice and snow, and the annual profit collected by the city in street rental. Yet she stood, while the cops sat.

Gets Part of What She Pays For.
This little incident aids in illustrating that the car rider pays more than the cost of her ride, and in this instance got but part of what she paid for.

Under the street railway franchise, policemen, firemen, and certain other city employees, while in full uniform, are carried free.

It probably grew out of the fact that years ago policemen were entitled to special privileges because of the dangerousness of their incomes. That was the time when they were receiving an annual salary of $1,000 a year without pension, instead of $2,000 with pension when they were working twelve and fourteen hours a day without need of rest, instead of eight hours, with a day off occasionally.

It is not here contended that the police gratuity of free riding should be completely canceled—although the riding between patrol boxes instead of riding beats on foot sometimes results in property loss, decreases police protection, and tends to increase burglary rates. But policemen can be careful about exercising the privilege.

They can avoid cheating a girl who would pay for their ride.

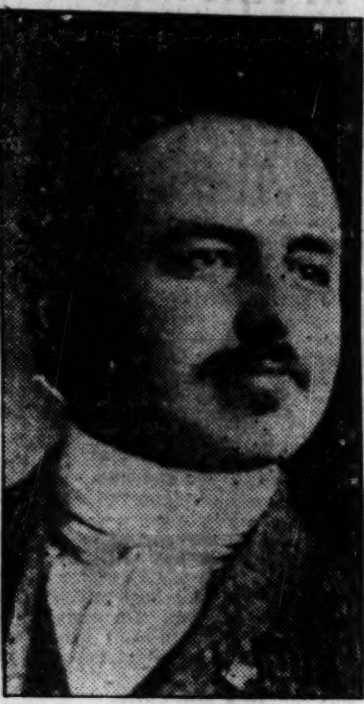

Others Get Free Rides.
This applies with equal force to other free riders. There was a South side policeman who was seen frequently for months in a seat on the elevated while pay passengers stood.

He rode free. Elevated guards have been seen occupying seats while pay passengers, who were contributing part of the salaries of the guards, were standing.

The point is car riders, without privilege pay for the free rides of others. It may be argued that free transportation on the Chicago Surface Lines is small and incidental. Perhaps it is, in

BATTILING DOCTOR

Fights Two Holdup Men, but They Finally "Operate on" Him for $35.

DR. ARTHUR L. DUPLANTIS.

Dr. Arthur L. Duplantis of 2358 Burlington street chanced last night to go to his office at 1006 North Clark street. Two men came to visit him. One thrust a revolver into the doctor's side and said he didn't throw up his arms.

The physician did throw up his arms with fists on them. The man with the gun toppled over. The other sprang at the physician. He didn't know the ride was free and their rides are lumped with those of municipal and government employees who do not pay.

The doctor turned. The man on the floor grabbed him about the legs and the other man threw himself on the doctor. Then the robbers operated on the man of medicine, and removed his wallet containing $35.

As they left they fired a couple of shots.

comparison with the total number of passengers carried, but it is difficult to believe that 29,000,000 free rides cost nothing.

That is the approximate number who did not pay their fares last year. Whatever the expense, it must be borne by those who are compelled to pay. No statistics are kept showing the number of rides by the different classes of gratis passengers. Company employees ride free and their rides are lumped with those of municipal and government employees who do not pay.

The total rides of all free passengers on the surface lines for each of the last six years are shown in the following tabulation:

Year—	Free rides.	Year—	Free rides.
1914.....	28,737,309	1917.....	29,774,845
1915.....	29,414,095	1918.....	27,401,923
1916.....	30,249,902	1919.....	29,772,504

No legal politician nor company official had sufficient nerve—even if he thinks it fair—to urge that free transportation be taken away from municipal employees. There is no danger on that point, but in at least one other part of the country the subject has been taken up.

The Oregon public service commission is opposed to making car riders pay the cost of transporting city employees. Their opinion was expressed in an application of the Portland utility company for an increase in street car fares.

400,000 Free Rides in Portland.

"During the year 1919," says the commission, "more than 400,000 free rides were given city employees under a franchise requirement, which would yield at a ticket rate of 5¢ cents in excess of $22,000."

"If the value of the services of these employees to the city is enhanced, and the necessities of their positions require frequent car rides, then the city should properly provide for their transportation, either through salaries or the purchasing and furnishing of tickets. Certainly the practice of requiring the fare paying rider to furnish the ride is untenable."

"In this connection we note that the city of Seattle, notwithstanding the street railway system is municipally owned and operated, paid to its street railway department during the year 1919 for transportation of policemen and firemen, the sum of $30,000."

Chicago pays a much larger sum yearly for street car transportation. This is for other than policemen, and others in uniform. If they are in citizens' dress they must pay, and, accordingly, detectives, for example, are supplied with street car tickets.

Versatility

WELL EQUIPPED indeed is the person who, besides a regular vocation, has an avocation—some special form of diversion—possibly a cultural one. We often call it a hobby. Nature's urge is for versatility. Monotony tires us. Specialization is a valued faculty, but specialization itself is the better for association with varied life. It develops rounded-out ability; it refreshes routine.

Diversity of tastes—the habit of being interested in many things—widens vision, induces reflection and stimulates imagination. It enables us to see more than one side of a question.

This Store, though a Store of specialists, encourages the companionship of versatility.

Store Notes

Cozy Bungalow Ever thought what a bit of lighting can do for your home? A row glow does more for that spirit of hospitality and cordiality than the proverbial candle in the window.

There are lovely little gay colored silk shades that slip over the hanging electric bulb, transforming a plain though very useful light into a thing of beauty. Various colors and patterns are priced at $2.

Fancy Goods Section—Third Floor.

Something for the Picnic Do you know that the Candy Section is a near approach to a delicatessen? You can buy the best Salad Dressings and good things to take on picnics that you ever dreamed of. Loganberry Juice, as well as Olives, Olive-Oil, Mixed Pickles, Chow-Chow and Marmalades.

Third Floor, North.

Get Into the Corners How often have you seen a lamp shade just big enough to get into the corners of furniture or frames, anything that has un-get-at-able corners, to get that stray bit of dust that a larger brush couldn't reach. Small stiff brushes of wood fibre with ten-inch bamboo handles are priced at just 10¢.

Fancy Goods Section—Third Floor.

Make Your Own Lampshade A very good way to utilize an hour or two is to make a lamp shade for your home. There are a few pieces of material that have been reduced because they are odd lengths, or the last in stock, that would make splendid shades.

Frames are here in this Section in all shapes and sizes. Instruction is given free of charge. Fancy Goods Section, Third Floor.

The French Knew Beauty They knew the value of a touch of color, so they made these charming little buttonnieres and corsages—in every conceivable combination of color and shape. A large variety is found on the Third Floor, Flower Section.

Blue Rose The softness of Flower Petals And the elusive scent that holds by its intangible charm, make Blue Rose products the choice of the woman who loves delicate shades and demands only the best for her toilet table.

Blue Rose Face Powder, natural, white and brunette, at $1.75; Talcum Powder, 50¢; Soap, 50¢ a cake or $2.75 a box. Toilet Goods Section, First Floor.

Navy Blue

Is One of Autumn's Favorites

For business or street wear, there is no color to take the place of navy blue. The models sketched are two of the Autumn Suits just received. The tailored lines are relieved by a clever bit of embroidery or stitching, while pockets and narrow tie belts give that trig air that is so desired.

The fabrics are gabardine and tricotine, moderately priced at $75 and $87.50.

Embroidered Designs Feature New Millinery

Duvelyn alone, or combined with other materials such as satin or taffeta, is the demand of the present moment. Many individual effects are obtained by embroidering bits of the crown or brim, sometimes the entire hat, with threads of wool, silk floss, or metal threads of tinsel and dull gold.

The hat sketched is a combination of navy blue duvelyn and taffeta embroidered in white silk. Many charming models in popular colors and blacks are now being shown in the American, French, and English Rooms.

RAIL UNION CLANS GATHER TO TAKE UP WAGE AWARD

Leaders Fear Small Pay Raise Means Trouble.

Following a day of informal conference on the proposed final wage award of the railway labor board, the railroad brotherhood chiefs in the city last night announced that all was in readiness for the opening of the grand council which assembles in Oriental city, 335 North Dearborn street, this morning.

Of the thousand union leaders expected to attend the council, some 500 were in the city last night.

The council, which is the first for more than a year, will consist of representatives of the sixteen groups of railway employees affected by the wage awards.

Will Go to a Referendum.

Immediately upon the announcement of the wage award by the labor board, the grand council will take up the various sections and act upon them. Their acceptance or rejection of the award granted will result in the question of an authorized walkout.

According to union rules, all questions of a raise in wages must be acted upon by the rank and file by means of a referendum vote. This is the case with the award.

Whether or not the rank and file will accept the award will be determined by a referendum vote. This is the case with the award.

LABOR NOMINEE TURNS ON 48ERS FOR "PINK TEA"

Amos Pinchot, Allen McCurdy, and A. H. Hopkins, who originated the movement which led to the birth of the "Farmer-Labor" party received their thanks yesterday from Parley P. Christensen, the new party's candidate for president.

In a statement issued before he left the city Mr. Christensen refers to the three, and a fourth he does not name, as "a quartet of coupon-clipping intellectuals from New York whose arteries ran ice water when what they intended to be a pink tea for the uplift got lost in a convention of the plain people."

CHATEAU THIERRY IS DECORATED FOR AMERICA AND FRANCE

CHATEAU THIERRY, July 18.—(By the Associated Press.)—The battle field at Chateau Thierry, where American troops fell with the French, was consecrated today by the presentation of the Legion of Honor and the Croix de Guerre upon the town of Chateau Thierry.

The decorations were given in honor of Hill 204, where the Americans and French under Gen. Degoutte, with the French army of Gen. Mangin on their left, launched their attack in the second battle of the Marne, on July 18, 1918.

Hugh C. Wallace, the American ambassador, in thanking the French for their tribute to American valor, described the scene as "the valley of victory." The ceremony of presentation was held on the top of Hill 204, at the foot of the monument erected to the men who fell in the battle.

VOUTE LEAVES AUTHORS' LEAGUE AS "PRO-SOVIET"

New York, July 18.—(Special.)—Because he believes the Authors' League of America, 41 Union square, is being used as a vehicle for bolshevik and pro-soviet propaganda, Emile Voute, novelist, an editorial writer, has resigned from that organization.

"Last April I received a circular of a book by Upton Sinclair sent out, I believe, through the good offices of the Authors' League, which appealed to me as a flagrant anti-American and pro-soviet propaganda," Mr. Voute said. "In it Sinclair asserts, among other things, that the American press has not preserved its integrity, and offers Soviet Russia among his examples of subjects with which our press has not dealt fairly. I have nothing in common with men of Sinclair's ilk, and so I resigned."

"Many members of the league," Mr. Voute continued, "I know to be fine Americans in every way and devoted to the welfare of their country. Authors, as a class, have the reputation of being more or less bohemian in their attitude toward life and for this reason perhaps the enemies of our society and national life find such an organization conveniently easy for them to work through."

Farmer Claims Auto Man Stole His Wife's Love

Emery Stockman, automobile dealer in Sandwich, De Kalb county, Ill., was made a defendant in a suit for $50,000 damages filed Saturday by Jay C. Whittle, 48 years old, who owns a $85,000 farm near De Kalb. The declaration charged Stockman with alienating the affections of Mrs. Marian Whittle.

Mr. and Mrs. Whittle were married first on March 17, 1917. She had been nursing Whittle's mother. They were married again on Sept. 8, 1918, after it was learned the first wedding was illegal. Mrs. Whittle had not been divorced a year from a former husband.

At the time of the second wedding Whittle presented his wife with a motor car which he purchased from Stockman. He hired the dealer to teach her how to drive. It was then that Stockman commenced the alienation of Mrs. Whittle's love, her husband asserts.

MYSTERY GIRL TAKES POISON AT PLAZA HOTEL

Life Saved and Secret Is Preserved.

In the accident book at the East Chicago avenue police station it is recorded that a Miss Aron Vale, 26 years old, attempted suicide yesterday in room 216 of the Plaza hotel.

"While dependent over a love affair" was the motive, according to the police.

The woman was found in the hotel room by a maid.

"I have just taken some veronal—I may die," she told the maid.

The police were called and the girl told them she knew Walter N. Jacobs of 1845 Balmoral avenue, and James H. Hawkins of 1044 Hollywood avenue. Then she became too ill for questioning.

Taken to Another Hotel

The police took her to the Passavant hospital, where efforts to counteract the poison were successful. Last night Mr. Hawkins, with a woman thought to be his wife, called at the hospital for the girl and drove her to the Edgewater Beach hotel, where she obtained a room.

Debs Wears of Prison Interviews; Gets Big Mail

Atlanta, Ga., July 18.—(Special.)—Whereas most "candidates" are on the best of terms with newspaper correspondents, Eugene V. Debs, choice of the theists, has been doing his best to avoid them, and has written a letter to Attorney General Palmer requesting that the department of justice refrain from granting further permission to newspaper men to enter the prison and seek interviews with him.

In the last few weeks Mr. Debs has refused to give his views on the other candidates. He does not care to indulge in personalities, it was said.

Prior to Debs' nomination for the presidency, two mail clerks at the prison had a cinch, but since the socialist nomination the mail for Debs has been so large that it is probable another clerk will be added.

Boy Struck by Auto Dies On His Way to Hospital

Arthur Schmidt, 4 years old, of 2520 North Shakespeare avenue, was struck by an automobile at Central and Elston avenues yesterday and died as a result of his injuries while being taken to the Swedish Covenant hospital.

The automobile was driven by Henry Gerdan of Dundee, Ill. An inquest will be held today and the police have ordered Gerdan to be present.

Street Cars Smash Into Each Other; No One Hurt

Failure of a control box to work resulted in a collision between two street cars at Grand avenue and Wells street last night. About sixty passengers on the two cars were badly shaken up, but no one was reported injured.

WHEN A FELLER NEEDS A FRIEND

GEARY, IN JAIL, SHOWS NO WORRY ABOUT HIS TRIAL

Gene Geary, who is being tried for murder, did not seem to be much worried about his trial when he entered the "bullpen" yesterday at the county jail and took his exercise with the rest of the prisoners. He got rather chummy with several and laughed and joked with them.

Sixty-seven veniremen have passed through the jury box in Judge Sabath's court room during the week and only one man has so far been tentatively accepted for service. This morning a special venire of 100 men will appear.

The difficulty is finding men who have not already come to the decision that only one punishment fits Geary's case—hanging.

WEIL ANNOUNCES BAND CONCERT DATES FOR WEEK

Loop Pickpocket Gets Kenosha Man's $120

Harry Lawrence of Kenosha, Wis., reported yesterday that his pocketbook containing $120 was taken from him while he was boarding a Clark street car at Washington street.

The Inquiring Reporter Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

Today's Question.

Which is the more effective vote getter, front porch addresses or stump speeches?

The Answers.

CARL HUBBARD, 2406 Lawrence avenue, clerk—Stump speeches, because you reach more people with your message.

JAMES L. KILLORAN, 5611 South Halsted street, mechanic—Stump speeches are the best vote getters. It doesn't do as much good to make porch speeches. People are not enough interested to read the speech in the papers.

MRS. HELEN E. WILSON, 2234 South Washburn avenue, housewife—I think the front porch method is better. It is more "homey" and influences those who would vote for a home man, a man of the people.

CHARLES E. JAHNEKE, 2333 Normal avenue, taxicab driver—I think it is a draw. The porch speeches get the sentimental and the stump speeches get the rest. It's a tossup.

CHARLES T. JONES, 1854 West Monroe street, bank clerk—The two methods are poor enough, but I think the porch speeches get the best caliber of voters, those who will stick, because they are not influenced by the hysteria of stump speaking.

Finds His Aged Father After Four Year Search

James M. White, 4452 Congress street, found his father, John Sr., 83 years old, in Racine, Wis., a few days ago. He had searched for him for four years. The elder White became a victim of amnesia after the death of his wife. The son was taking his father to Chicago, but had only enough money to reach Waukegan. There he asked the police to care for the old man while he went to arrange for more money, and the father disappeared.

REMARK TO GIRL CAUSES FATAL BLOW FOR YOUTH

A remark made to a girl at a dance in Brandt's park, Elston and Belmont avenues, Saturday night started a fight that resulted in the death of Vito Cantocce, 22 years old, 1058 West Taylor street.

Cantocce went to the dance hall with Michael Caboto, 1915 West Taylor street. Some one—Caboto says it was neither he nor his friend—made a remark to a girl and when the two young men left the park they were followed.

Caboto told the police, a dozen youths ran up and stung Cantocce. One struck him on the head with a club. Police took Cantocce to the county hospital, where he died.

Detectives Dunn, Hardy, Bolecky, and Robinson of the homicide squad arrested five young men at picnic grounds on Higgins road and Milwaukee avenue. One of them, Peter Sonnefeld, who lives near Leland avenue and North Robey street, was identified by Caboto as the man who killed Cantocce. One of the prisoners, said Sonnefeld swung the club.

RENEW FIGHT TO BAR STORY OF SEATTLE REDS

The fight to keep the story of the Seattle strike, led by Reds during the war, out of the testimony being heard in the trial of twenty members of the Communist Labor party will be reopened this morning by Attorney W. S. Forrest, counsel for the radicals.

Attorney Forrest said Saturday's session before Judge Oscar Hebel in his effort to have barred the story of Harry J. Wilson, the Seattle minute man avowed. One of them, Peter Sonnefeld, who lives near Leland avenue and North Robey street, was identified by Caboto as the man who killed Cantocce. One of the prisoners, said Sonnefeld swung the club.

If Mr. Forrest is successful, the testimony of Ole Hume, Seattle's fighting mayor, who downed the Reds at the time of the strike, will also be barred and, it is admitted, the state thereby will suffer in its presentation of the Communists, who are charged with a conspiracy to overthrow the government.

CAR STRIKE ENDS, MORNING BRINGS NORMAL SERVICE

Men Back on Terms Offered as They Went Out.

Chicago's "one man" street car strike ended at 4:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when, at a conference of company officials, "Umbrella Mike" Boyle and other union heads, a compromise agreement was subscribed to by all factions.

According to the terms of the peace treaty the company scored a decisive victory over the Boyle faction. The south side shops, bone of contention in the strike, will remain open to both union and nonunion men alike.

By 7 o'clock last night all substitution men and other malcontents employed on night shifts were back on the job. They found the street car service operating on a normal basis. The remainder of the men, it was declared, will return to work on their regular schedules.

Some Terms of Peace.

There was little change in the terms finally agreed upon and those which the company had offered when "Umbrella Mike" stamped the conference and called the strike.

Work in the south side shops was transferred from piecework to eight hour time day, the hours to be equalized within the next ninety days. Over-time in both south and west side shops will be on an equal basis, time and one-half. Trackman and machinists will be placed on the same ratio of pay, but a raise to 70c an hour asked is still under consideration.

The union chiefs were defeated on demands for an increase of the two groups of class B electricians to a standard rate of pay. The same was true of the linemen. Their wages will remain at the $4 and 55 cents an hour ratio, as heretofore.

Raises for Some Men.

Metal workers received an increase of 5 cents an hour on night shifts. Blacksmiths gained nothing by the strike. They will receive $8.16 a day, the same figure offered by the company during the pre-strike conference. Helpers in these trades will receive 80 cents an hour instead of their demands of 97 1/2 cents an hour.

Trackmen under the new schedule will be given 54 cents an hour. Drivers will get 48 cents and 70 cents an hour, depending upon their length of employment. Workers in these trades employed in the shops will receive the same rate of pay as those outside.

"Bosco" Knott, business agent of Linemen's local No. 8, failed to gain his objective, the 70c rate for the foremen. He also accepted the offer by the company of $10 a day for foremen, $9 a day for linemen, and $7 a day for helpers.

Substitution Salaries

Substitution men will receive $120 per month during the first year of their employment, $125 the second, $130 the third, and $145 the fourth. Operators will get $21 and $20 a week, the same figure offered by the company when the union demands were $225.

The rainy day clause demanded by the linemen also was rejected. It was disregarded in the settlement.

Yesterday's meetings were stormy. As the arguments continued the voices continued to raise until they were plainly heard by the waiting newspaper men outside. Once or twice union representatives stormed from the meeting room, vowing their intention to strike forever. But always, guided by the suave voice and smiling demeanor of General Manager William Plah of the lines, they went back to the conference room looking like school boys about to take a dose of bitter medicine.

"Got Mine," Knott Says

The first intimation of a settlement was the eruption of "Bosco" Knott, chief factotum of the linemen, from the conference.

"I've got mine," he announced. Then the conference awaited the final draft of the peace treaty, taken by a company stenographer. When it appeared all signed their names, and stalked solemnly from the room, after shaking hands with company officials to carry their word to the men who had convened at 3 o'clock to hear the terms.

After many explanations and more exclamations of disappointment from the workers, who had expected a victory, the men began to return to their jobs.

This morning's rush hour will find the street cars operating normally.

Final Judgment Today on Mayor's School Board

Final judgment against ten members of the school board and their attorney, William A. Bither, found guilty of contempt of court by Judge Scanlan in connection with the ouster of Dr. Charles E. Chadsey from the position of superintendent, is expected to be entered this morning. It was to be entered Friday, but because of the absence from the city of Dr. Radie Bay Adair, one of the defendants, Judge Scanlan delayed action. Dr. Adair left for Salt Lake City more than a week ago to attend the annual convention of the National Education association.

It was stated at her home, 3546 Lake Park avenue, that she is expected to return today or tomorrow.

School of Education Is Launched at N. U.

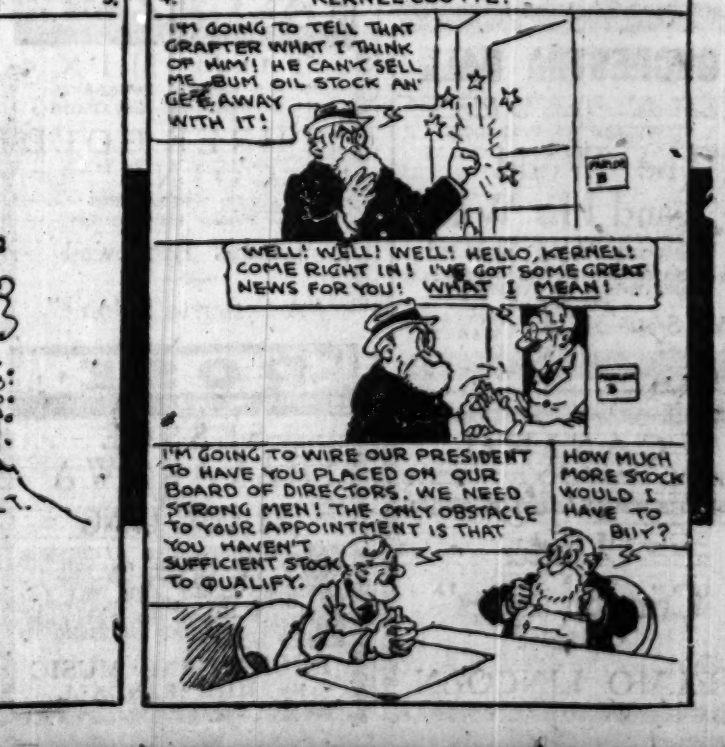

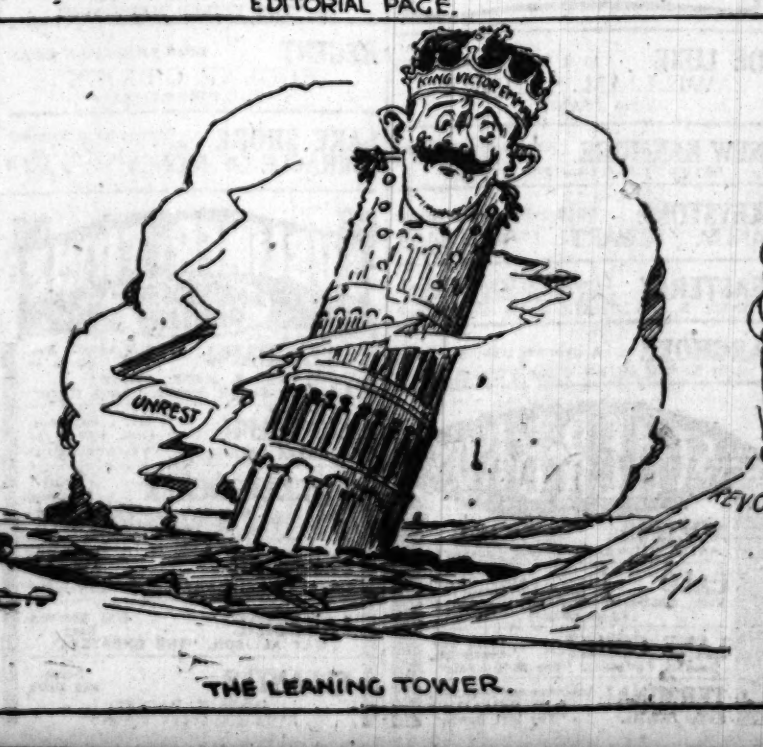

A new department, called the school of education, has been established by Northwestern university. "Educational administrators" who will go to Cuba, India, China, Chile and other countries are being funneled out by the new department. The students are taught the administration methods of American schooling systems.

Camp Preacher Hits Car Strike Leaders as Meeting Closes

BY THE REV. F. L. GRATIOT.

An attack upon "Umbrella Mike" and others connected with the street car strike was made by Dr. John R. Thompson, superintendent of Methodist Chicago city missions, at the Desplains camp meeting yesterday. The large lumber-laden was packed to overflowing at the services on the concluding day of the revival. More than 2,000 people crowded into the open building, and the Rev. C. C. Travis of Chicago in the evening.

"We are certainly on the verge of Bolshevism when a small group of men unlawfully tie up a great city like Chicago," Dr. Thompson said. The plan of the electricians in the recent Chicago surface line strike was to organize every electrician in the city, call a general strike, put out the lights, and attack the homes of our people. We should send that kind of men back to the country of their birth."

"This country must be preserved for Christianity," he continued. "Both capital and labor have to be taught that religion has something to say about the affairs of men, and that if they step in to defend them from both wings."

"The church should be the heart, and eyes, and hands, and voice of Jesus guiding the affairs of men. But if divided as we are, how can we unite the world? There is no one to speak for the church. Neither pope nor archbishop can voice the moral judgments of the church. A united church only can lead the way. Such a church could save and Christianize the world in a generation."

Dr. Thompson held up McCutcheon's Thursday cartoon and took that and Rev. V. C. as his text. The cartoon, which showed the third party elements uniting, he used as illustrating the spirit of the nations until the beasts of industry and commerce are tamed by Christianity.

"The danger to the church lies within the church itself. Smug phariseism, alcoholism, hypocrisy will kill the church quicker than anything else. It is the worst sin of today that we keep our churches for nice, clean, respectable people, and do not welcome those who really need the help of Christ's redeeming love which he committed to the church. If I went into some of our churches, dressed a bit shabbily, and a suave usher told me to go up to the gallery, I'd tell him to go to the gallery—somewhere else."

Baking peaches either with or without the skins is another way of sterilizing the peaches and getting it hot. Some people bake them with the skins on, and some people like to punish this out and put chopped nuts and sugar in its place, mixed with a little butter or not, as we choose. A little water must be used around them, and about half a tablespoon of sugar may be dusted over each peach, or not, as we choose. They will bake in a quick oven in about twenty minutes. Cook them soft, but not until they break in pieces.

Ways to Cook Peaches.

When the peaches are a little green cook them. Hot cooked peaches are delicious. Peaches which are not fine of flavor raw may be exceedingly good hot. Peel and cut in as even slices as possible, try them gently for five minutes in butter, and add sugar to taste. This sterilizes the fruit, and so cooked it is better for delicate stomachs, and safer.

It is a careless thing to eat a peach skin and all. It is difficult to wash the skin, and it is insanitary to eat it without washing it. Peel it always then as you wish to insure safety. The harm done by eating the dirty skin is subtle and long in showing. There are troubles that develop so slowly that we forget their possible origin.

'Madame Butterfly' Brings Out Ravinia's Artists at Their Best

BY CHARLES H. GABRIEL JR.

The first performance of "Madame Butterfly" at Ravinia took place Saturday night before the largest audience of the year. From every standpoint the production was a success.

Miss Easton made an admirable Cho-Cho-San. Her long intimacy with the role has enabled her to develop it until every portion is superbly done. Her interpretation was replete with those effective and charming moments which stamp the work of an artist of stellar degree.

Miss Kingston's work as the inconsistent Lieutenant overwhelmed anything he had done heretofore this season. His song and action were both passionately robust and tender. His voice has rarely sounded more vibrant and he easily obtained all the effects to be found in Puccini's scoring of the part.

Miss Alice Gentle sang effectively as the maid, Suzuki. She proved herself amply able to meet the rather heavy demands of the role. Graham Marr, the consul, sang with a voice of rich and sympathetic quality, with understanding of the music and with good enunciation. The chorus and minor roles were excellently handled.

Mr. Page, the conductor, came up to his credit some of the best work he has accomplished this season. He managed to hold the orchestra and singers to a flexible and often brilliant ensemble, and kept the movement of the drama expeditious.

Last night La Bonnie was repeated. Tonight an orchestra composed, with Ethel Wakefield, dramatic soprano; Enrico Tramoto, harpist, and Alex Zukorsky, violinist, as soloists.

All American Truck. P. A. F. Waterloo, Ia.—The All American Truck company's balance sheet of Feb. 1 last showed $1,081,685 of stock outstanding and $210,786 of net tangible assets. As part of the stock was sold far above par and none below it, the company is not particularly good. The company has never made public an income account, so whether it has operated at a profit or at a loss is unknown.

Invisible Oil. L. H. D.—The Invisible Oil corporation has $17,110,100 of stock outstanding, as shown by its balance sheet of April 30, and $3,323,023 of net tangible assets in the four months preceding. The company was formed a year ago. Stock is speculative.

American Telephone and Telegraph. J. G.—The American Telephone and Telegraph company earned its interest charges almost four times in the first half of this year. The surplus after deduction for interest and federal taxes equaled almost 6 percent on the stock. In the six months the company added 308,000 stations to the service, which is a record, and it still has over 200,000 unlisted orders.

Brief Answers. I. M.—The Washington Rubber company furnished a balance sheet two years ago, which showed $399,077 of standing. No later information is available. Shares are now offered at $2.50. No bid price.

Breaking all records—

A short time ago a star athlete from Cornell went over to Franklin Field and broke the world's record for the 440 hurdle race. He won because of superior speed and endurance.

In the daily race of business, Library Bureau card systems are breaking all records for speed and distance—handling office detail in less time and with less effort than it has ever been handled before.

Library Bureau offers you card systems and equipment for all purposes—for every business. It offers you the know-how of 44 years experience—the sales intelligence which takes so much wood or steel, and so many cards and guides, and transmits them into a practical working system.

A sample of this know-how is found in the L. B. system for handling purchase records.
